If I use the name "sInstance" instead of 'isIphone' the programm is working. The error is : 'sInstance' is unavailable: not available on iOS 8.0 Do you have any idea? Thanks! A: isIphone is deprecated, and iOS 8 will not compile. Try UIApplication.shared.isOnOrAfter(.iOS8) to check for iOS 8. If it's not iOS 8, then isIphone is available. You may also want to consider replacing print("iPhone") with isOnOrAfter(.iOS8) or similar. Q: Why does my embedded web server fail to forward HTTP requests to my smartphone browser? I've written a small C++ (Visual Studio 2013) server and set up a web server to listen on port 9000, just like in this other answer (I use the web server to listen on port 9000
